SESSION DESCRIPTIONS

7 Essential Skills for Classroom Teachers

Every teacher must demonstrate composure throughout the day, and maintaining composure requires multiple skills. This session will help you learn essential skills to model and maintain self-regulation in the classroom.

Understanding Sensory Disorders

In this session you will learn what sensory disorders are and how to support children in the classroom setting. You will explore ways to implement visual, auditory, and physical activities that encourage optimal learning experiences.

Building Relationships with Families

This session focuses on building relationships with the families we care for and bridging the gap between school and home. In order to maximize a child's development and learning there must be a partnership between the family, the school, and the community. During this session, we will uncover how you as a teacher are personally connecting with families in your care and how you can improve and strengthen those important relationships.

Wonder Inspired Teaching Through the Magic of Play

There is magic within you. Discover how to use your magic to be a proactive and productive teacher. Avoid burnout and complacency by allowing your magic to renew your sense of wonder and passion for teaching. Harness its power to create a magical classroom and learning experience for children.
